Discussion with Person-in-Charge

Ting Ly / owner was informed that another inspection would be happening before the end of the year. Should continued non compliance with the food code be found during this inspection, she will be ordered to close the establishment. This level of non compliance and amount of violations related to food borne illness outbreak should not be happening as she just opened New United China in July. Upon the pre operational inspection in July, it was found that 7 violations existed that can result in food borne illness. When a re inspection was done 4 days later, the violations were all corrected and Ting was given the permit to open. However since then, the Board of Health recieved a complaint from someone claiming to have gotten sick from eating at New United China. Upon inspecting per complaint; 8 violations were found that increase the risk for food borne illness, with 4 of the violations repeated from the pre operational inspection in July. It was explained to Ting that this is unacceptable and the reason another follow up inspection will be conducted before the end of the year with the possibility of not being able to renew the permit to operate in 2024. Ting was advised to review these inspection reports and to go over them with her staff and husband to ensure compliance. It was also expressed that although Ting took the serv safe food protection manager training and obtained her certification in July 2023, she is not demonstrating any knowledge of food safety in her establishment and via conversation and questions she is asked during the inspections.
